

Watercolour Techniques and Mixed Media

In this workshop we will look at watercolour techniques, layers and the use of some unusual mediums for painting such as Micadough.

This workshop is about experimenting, and exploring opportunities whilst learning about different media and the possibilities.

All of the materials are very inexpensive and vastly useful in the classroom. The application here is multi usable for stand alone artwork and theme based applications.

Like all of our workshops you will not be disappointed and the learning aspects will be vast and refreshing.

Lunch is provided for the full day sessions and afternoon tea is provided for the afternoon sessions. The afternoon session is a snap shot of what is covered in the full day due to the time restrictions, and still very valuable in itself.

You will get materials to take home in the full day session.
